Outline

1. Precautions to take before installing software
2. Installation options
3. Pros and cons of about paid software offered for free
4. Main aggregator sites proposing paid software for free
5. Miscellaneous: conditions and limitations, types of licenses and licensing models, etc.
6. Dubious software

Disclaimer

I am not associated in any way with any of the software companies mentioned in this presentation.

I am not assuming any responsibility for any data loss or other digital harm that may result from downloading, installing or using any of the software presented here.

1. Precautions to take before installing software

- Never blindly download and install software!
- Update your antivirus and anti-malware BEFORE installing any software.
- Make a BACKUP first!

BACKUP

Following are a few different ways to safeguard your data ...
... and a few precautions to take to be on the safe side ...

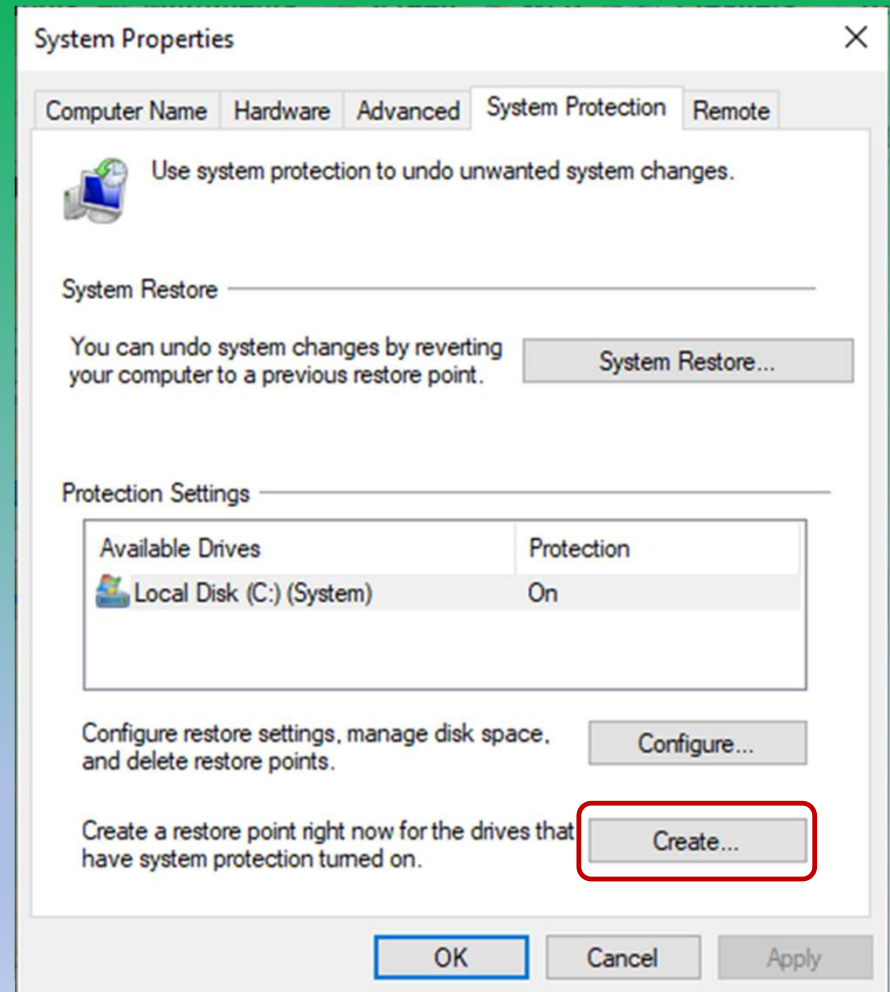

Create a restore point

- Always create a Windows system restore point BEFORE installing any software (type "Restore" in the search field of the Taskbar).
- It is the first line of defense, and the easiest and least time-consuming way to restore your system ...
- ... when it works ...

If System Restore fails to work, try rebooting in Safe Mode, and see if you can turn off or uninstall your antivirus, then try again to access the latest restore point and the ones after, if any, if the first one fails.

Warning! You should not rely on restore points alone!

Create a system image

Create an image of your computer on an external drive (for the MS Windows system image utility, type “Create a recovery drive” in the search field of the Taskbar).

- Images include everything: ✓ Operating system
✓ Programs
✓ Data
- They are smaller in size than the disk or a clone.

Warning! Some backup software save the image on the C:\ drive by default! Don't forget to move it to an external drive after it's done, or better yet, create it externally to start with.

Warning! Be aware that software like these are easy to use, but what they create are proprietary disk images, so they will be needed for recovery!

<https://answers.microsoft.com/en-us/windows/forum/all/how-to-create-a-system-image-in-windows-11-and/036110b8-66bb-4cc7-b9e2-2d66df27d236>

Clone your computer

If you like cloning as a method of safeguarding your SSD or HDD, do clone often, as most recent files and programs will obviously not be found on an older clone should a crash occur (the same goes for disk imaging).

PRO: Swapping the drives will put you back in business in not time.

CON: You will have to recoup your latest files from the crashed drive, plus you will not be able to recoup your latest installed programs.

Note: Most of the time, when a computer crashes, it is the operating system and installed programs that are affected, not the data.

Disk Imaging

Disk Cloning

Disk Imaging vs Cloning: What's the Difference:

<https://www.stellarinfo.com/article/disk-imaging-vs-disk-cloning.php>

BACKUP

Store your files in the Cloud

Note: You may be limited in the size of individual files you can upload, that is, you may not be able to upload a drive image to the cloud, depending on its size:

- Google Drive: 50 MB
- OneDrive: 250 GB, etc.

Have a recovery software ready

Be prepared! Pre-install a recovery software on a USB key or on an external drive. It might come in handy!

Note: This type of software are data recovery software: they mainly recover photos, documents, music files, etc. — hundreds of file types actually — but not installed programs or entire drives.

Use a virtualization software (“sandbox”)

Virtualization software allow you to:

- Test software on a virtual operating system on a single desktop or laptop. Hyper-V makes it very easy to create and remove different operating systems within Windows.
- Run software that requires an older versions of Windows.

Read the Online reviews

Not sure about a software?

- Go online and read the reviews before installing it! As a matter of fact, this is a best practice that everyone should adopt when dealing with software.
- Investigate the software and the software developer or company and their reputation.

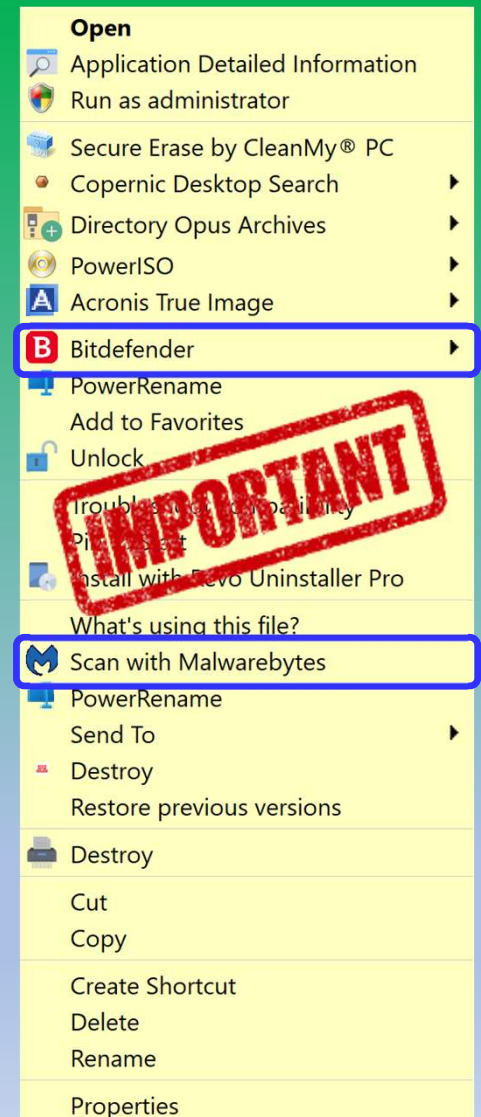

IMPORTANT

Warning! Some reviews can be deceitful ...

Scan downloaded files for malware

Always scan the .exe file you downloaded with your antivirus and anti-malware before installing the program.

Always use VirusTotal

VirusTotal is a Google web-based scanning service that utilizes over 70 antivirus scanners to extract signals from uploaded content.

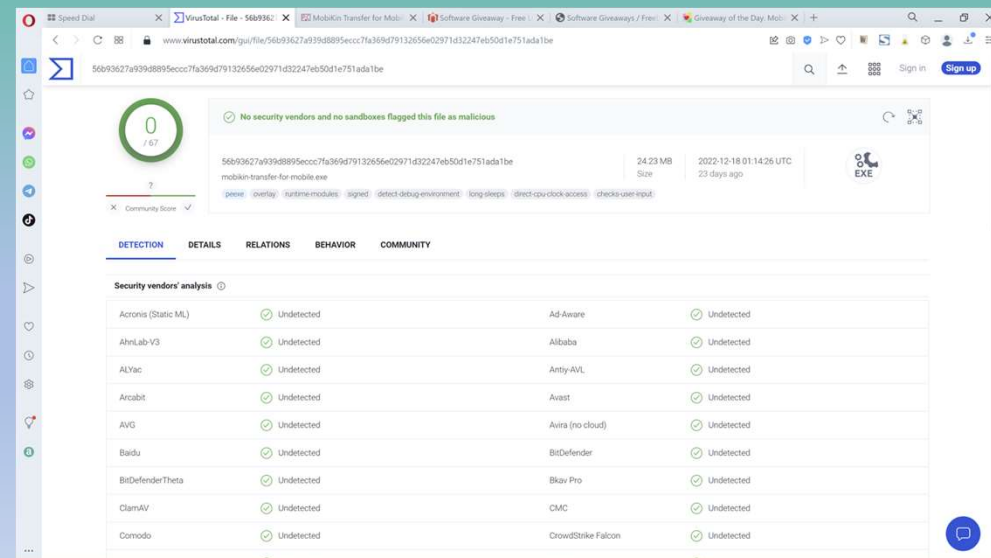

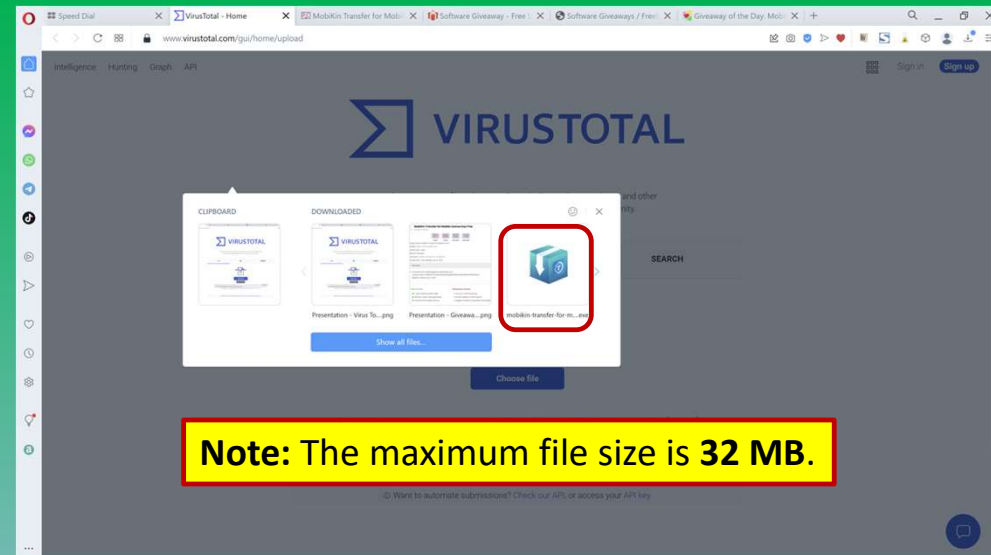

VirusTotal tells users whether they have submitted a malicious file and will also display each engine's detection label.

<https://www.virustotal.com/gui/home/upload>

Upload the .exe file ...
(or URL, IP address, domain, file hash)

... and get the results
(from the 70 antivirus scanners)

... but bear in mind, though, that nothing is fail safe ...

URL www.idealshare.net is not flagged by VirusTotal ...

... but the website is blocked by both Malwarebytes and BitDefender due to riskware, preventing access to the download location.

The screenshot shows the VirusTotal website interface. At the top, a green circle with a '0' indicates no security vendors flagged the URL as malicious. Below this, a table shows the scan results from various vendors. The URL is listed as 'http://www.idealshare.net/' with a status of '200' and content type of 'text/html'. The scan was performed on '2021-08-30 03:20:49 UTC' (1 year ago).

A Malwarebytes warning is also visible, stating 'Website blocked due to riskware' and providing details about the domain (idealshare.net), IP address (70.40.216.229), port (80), and type (Outbound).

... so, despite the good ratings, ... iDealShare VideoGo is a no-go for me.

- ☐ Add/Create a Quick Launch shortcut/icon
- ☐ Pin program to the Taskbar

Notification Area option

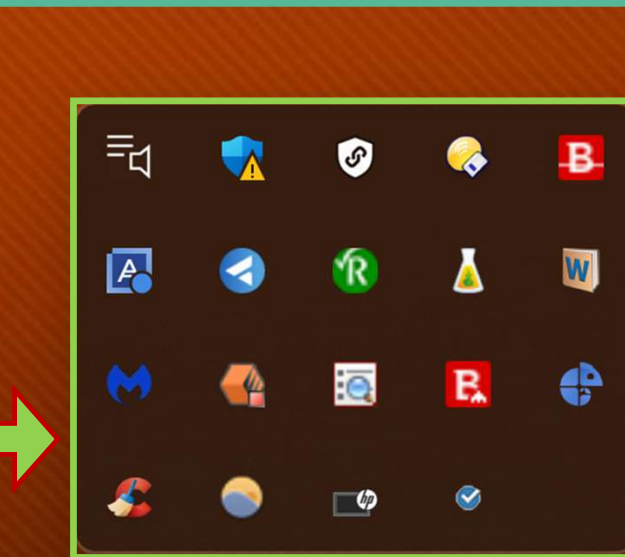

- ☐ Run program automatically when Windows starts

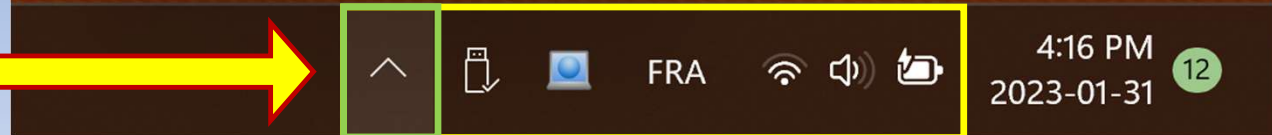

This means the program icon will be added to the Overflow Area, and the program will start with Windows and run in the background at all times.

Overflow Area

Notification Area

Warning! The more programs in the Overflow/Notification Area, the slower the booting time.

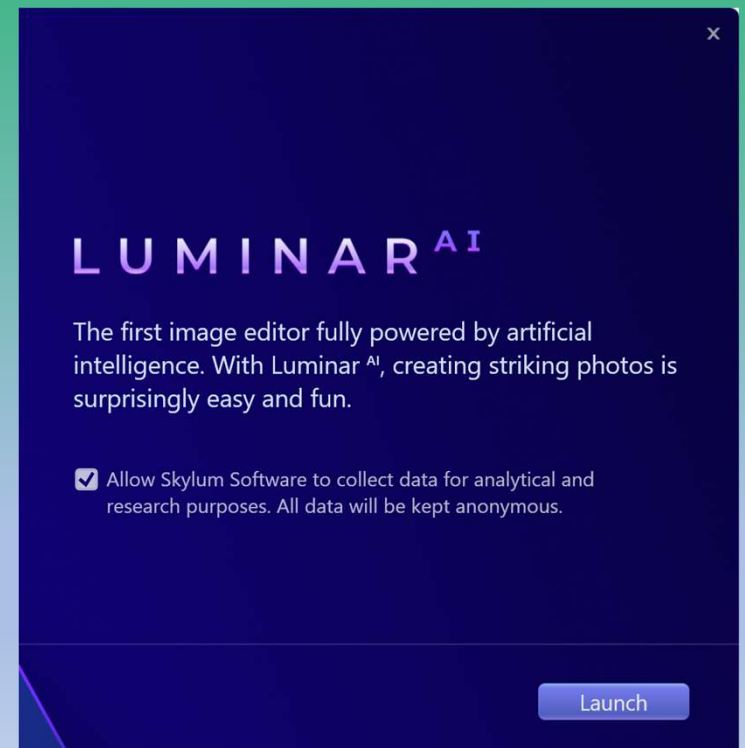

Warning! Too many apps running in the background also drain the battery, waste bandwidth, and use many system resources, so try to limit their number.

Keep an eye on those context menus!

A context menu, also called

- ✓ contextual menu

... is a menu that is displayed when right clicking on a file name, icon, link or text. It applies only to the particular context.

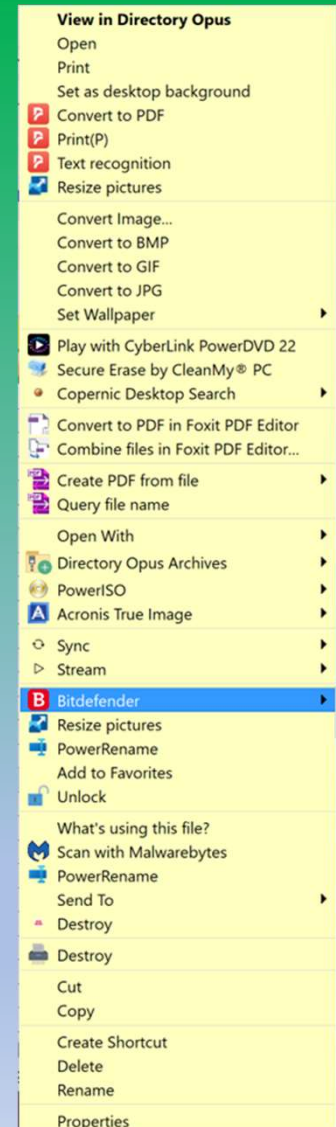

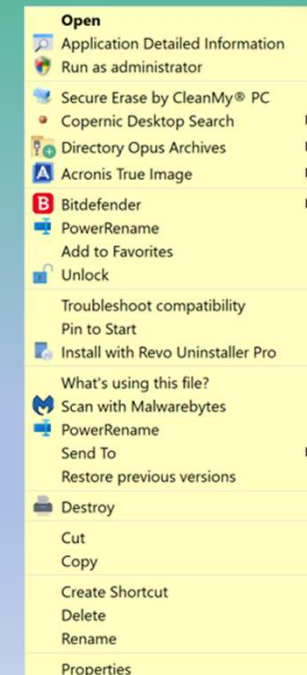

Context Menu (Explorer)

- ❑ Add 'Open with [Program]' Context Menu item for supported files

Context Menu (Recycle Bin)

- ❑ Add '[Program]' option to Recycle Bin context menu
- ❑ Add 'Open [Program]' option to Recycle Bin context menu

Note: Over time context menus can become bloated, and you may have to scroll down to get to the lower listed items. Do not let the programs you install add unwanted items to those menus, unless you really want those menu options and find them practical for you.

User folders created in the wrong place?

Warning! Some programs automatically create a default folder in the Documents directory, instead of the expected Pictures, Music or Videos directory!

Pay attention to the default directory during installation, and check the Documents directory for folders that do not belong there!

3. Pros and cons about paid software offered for free

The PROS about paid software obtained for free

Some companies offer their paid software for free as a  PROMO

- for a certain period of time — other than the usual 7-days or 1-month trial —, e.g., for 3-6-9-months or 1-2-3-years;
- occasionally or at certain times of the year (Christmas, Black Friday, Easter, etc.).

The reason: They want you to fully try out their software so that, in the end, you may be inclined to buy a license or take a yearly subscription.

Thanks to this kind of practice:

- You get to try out paid software for free, often without any restrictions.
- You may discover a must-have tool (... and end up buying the software).
- You get to learn the existence of different software and companies.
- You get to equip your PC with great software over time!

The CONS about paid software obtained for free

- There is no guarantee that those software have been tested for malware.
- The software offered are often stripped-down versions.
- The software offered are often previous or older versions.
- Some software are not updatable or upgradable during the promotion period (they revert to trial if you do so).
- There is a risk of using up more space than you can spare.
- The more software you have, the more software you have to maintain!
- Do you really have time to learn all those software?
- There is such a thing as conflicting software (compatibility issues).
- Security issues are always a concern.

You need more desktop space but don't have the possibility to add more monitors? This is the perfect program for you. When you push your mouse cursor to the left or right border of your screen you will see that your windows simply scroll to the opposite direction creating more space for having many windows open next to each other.

Description of the program

There is an auto arrange option that automatically orders all your windows nicely next to each other and you can limit the virtual desktop space to the space that is used by your open windows so you don't get lost. Also you can open the overview display so you can see your whole extended virtual desktop. If you have specific tools on your desktop that you don't want to scroll then you can exclude them from the scrolling windows list.

Is SharewareOnSale legit or legal?

Yes, it is!

Hello friends,

Here at SharewareOnSale we run daily sales (giveaways and discounts) of Windows software. Because this is the age of software piracy, many people wonder or ask: is SharewareOnSale legit or legal — or is it illegal pirating or cracks? Let me take a moment to set the record straight: SharewareOnSale is 100% legal and 100% legit — no piracy or cracks here!

All the sales (giveaways and discounts) featured on SharewareOnSale are legitimate. While not all are exclusive SharewareOnSale deals, all are legal giveaways or discounts offered directly by the developer of the software or service in question. None of the license keys and the downloads we share with you are pirated or illegal.

There are two ways we find deals to post about:

- We directly reach out to software developers and negotiate with them to bring you awesome giveaways and discounts
- We aggregate giveaways and discounts we find on the internet (like Reddit, but for software)

We aim to have the majority of our deals be SharewareOnSale exclusives that we directly negotiate with developers, but we are not afraid to aggregate non-exclusive giveaways and discounts if we feel they are too good to pass up.

So, download with no fear — we do not pirate software, we do not torrent anything, and we do not offer cracks; everything is legitimate!

Take care,

Ashraf

If you do not have an existing Ashampoo account with your email address, you will need to pick a password that you want with the Ashampoo account. You will then be sent an email by Ashampoo and need to click a confirmation link in that email. Once you click that link, that is it: the software will activate automatically, no need to enter any license key. Enjoy!

You may be asked to upgrade to a newer version of Burning Studio. That is totally optional. You can simply click NO THANKS. As part of this giveaway, you get the full version of Ashampoo Burning Studio 2023. You can confirm it is registered by going to HELP and then LICENSE STATUS.

Be sure to leave a nice comment if you like this offer or ask for help if you have any trouble.

TROUBLE REGISTERING THE GIVEAWAY OR GETTING YOUR LICENSE KEY?

Make sure to read the following!

Read this section at least once

- Some giveaways require the software to be run as administrator in order for the registration to be saved properly.
- If you are asked for a registration email or username when registering a software, first double check the registration details we give you above; for some giveaways, we provide you the registration email or username that you MUST use while registering and it will NOT register if you use your own email or username. If we do not provide you with a registration email or username, you can use your own.
- Make sure to READ and FOLLOW the directions we give you above EXACTLY. Some software require you to create an account AND activate your account or confirm your email address before they accept license keys or registration codes.
- After registering a giveaway, try restarting it.
- If you are waiting on getting an email from the developer, check your junk / spam first. If you do not get an email within 10 minutes, try using a different email address. Some email service providers unfairly block emails from some developers!
- If you have a license key and you are getting an error when using it, make sure (1) you are typing in the license key EXACTLY as you see it, including uppercase and lowercase; (2) try copy and pasting the license key instead of typing it manually; (3) make sure there are NO EMPTY SPACES before or after the license key; (4) try CLOSING and RESTARTING the program after registration; (5) make sure you are CONNECTED TO THE INTERNET and not blocking the program from accessing the developer's registration server; (6) make sure your computer's clock is UP-TO-DATE; and (7) check in the program's MAIN MENU or ABOUT section, because some programs display a message there if successfully registered (but some programs do not display this message). If you still have a problem, post in the help forum (click the ASK FOR HELP link above) or email the developer directly.

Last thoughts ...

1. To update or not to update? That depends on the offer. In many cases, updating or upgrading means automatically switching to trial mode.
2. To pay or not to pay? With this system, you can continually get to use the same paid software for free each and every time an offer for it pops up on one site or the other (hey, I did not invent the system! ... or did I?), but if you really find a software you can't live without, out of fairness for the developer, consider buying a license or getting a subscription.
3. To keep or not to keep the license and installation file? I routinely save every program .exe installation file and license email in a specific folder — on another drive — for reinstallation, if need be ... and whenever possible.
4. How to manage those dozens and dozens of software? I manage them with Fences (desktop), Opera Browser (Web), ... and a software that I will be presenting in September, i.e., the best Windows Explorer replacement:

 Directory Opus
