Dear [redacted]

I am Mr. Bravo Martí Ibanez Benito, a solicitor working with Equidad Abogados in Spain. I got your detailed contact information through your country's public archive (record), while searching for any possible relative to my late client Mr David [redacted]. Prior his death, he made a mutual investment deposit worth the sum of €7,500,000.00 (Seven Million, Five Hundred Thousand Euros) with a security and investment company here in Spain.

Unfortunately, the above mention clients died intestate. Against this milieu and consequently being his attorney/legal executor, the security company authorized me to present the heir/heirress of the deceased to make claims of the investment deposit. Therefore, I diligently embarked on a pervasive research where I got your detailed contact information. Owing to the sensitivity of this claim, I urge you to keep proposal confidential pending when we properly work out modalities.

In view all the above, I hereby seek your collaboration to partner with me either by providing me any clue to trace a family member or permit me present you as the benefactor of the aforementioned investment deposit. Though, I acknowledge you may not be anyway related to my late client, but taking into account that you both have a common surname wish could be likened to a common genealogy. Also, by virtue of my position as an attorney to the depositor family and also present during registry of the deposit, I had the opportunity to have necessary facts covering this deposit.

It is pertinent that you revert back to me at your earliest convenient so I can furnish you with more information as regards the claim. You can contact me via email; fax or telephone to the contact details enlisted below for further clarification and also discuss the terms and conditions for the claim to be instituted.

Thanks for your time and worthy consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Bravo Martí Ibanez Benito
