

From Ronald Gatan <rmgrun4fun@att.net> ②
To URGENT: Important message
Subject Re: Chase

Chase Logo

Account Alert

Account on hold

Your Chase banking account has a temporary hold placed on it by us.

This could have been added as a result of unauthorized access or account security problems.

We need a little more information to confirm your identity.

Your security and privacy are important to us. Click the "verify button" to confirm your identity to solve this problem.

Verify identity

<https://www.meb100.ru/redirect?to=https://gwinnettvineyard.com/jc>

Considering your email Because you choose to receive email alerts for online banking, you are receiving this message.

ABOUT THIS MESSAGE

&quot;Chase Private Client&quot; is the trademark for a banking and investment service and product.

Do not reply to this automatic email, thank you.

JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. Member FDIC

© 2023 JPMorgan Chase & Co.

Why is this a scam?

The sender should be Chase Bank, not an individual with a cryptic, non-Chase Bank email account.

An unexpected email asks you to verify your identity by clicking on the blue "Verify Identity" button, but hovering the mouse over this button reveals a strange URL that does not link to Chase Bank (outlined in purple).

A professional email would not contain the poor sentence structure and grammar outlined in red.

The text outlined in orange contains HTML entities (&quot; &copy; &amp;) that would not be visible as such in a professional document.

DO NOT CLICK ON LINKS OR BUTTONS IN UNEXPECTED EMAILS, especially those supposedly from your bank. Log in to your bank using a trusted bookmark. If you cannot log in because your bank account is truly "on hold", call or visit your bank.